AGED HOTEL MAN DIES IN ROANOKE

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Roanoke, Va., July 13.—S. Wachenheim, proprietor of a hotel in Vicksburg, Miss., died in his room at the Ponce de Leon Hotel this morning at 2 o'clock, after an illness of but a few hours.

Mr. Wachenheim, who was seventy-four years old, arrived here in company with his wife, having come from Ocean View, where they had been several weeks. Mr. Wachenheim intended going to Mountain Lake from here, but was so much pleased with Roanoke that he remained over and decided to stay here a month.

Late yesterday afternoon he complained of being ill. He did not go to the dining room for supper. At 1:30 his condition became very serious, and the house physician was called. The doctor found that Mr. Wachenheim was in a serious state, and did everything possible which might aid in his recovery, but the patient failed to respond to treatment. He was a Confederate veteran and a member of the B. F. O. Elks.

PEERS WILL MAKE FINAL DECISION

House of Lords Enters Upon Acute Stage of Veto Bill.

London, July 13.—The House of Lords entered to-day upon the expert stage of the veto bill, and there is considerable diversity of opinion as to what will be the outcome. The advocates of compromise have been to some extent pushed into the background during the last day or two by the "no surrender" faction.

The period of acute crisis will be reached with the week beginning July 24, when the House of Commons will reject, as seems to be assumed, the Lords' amendment, and the peers will have to make a final decision.

Lord Courtney this afternoon moved an amendment to clause 1, reinstating the Speaker of the House of Commons as the judge of what constitutes a valid division. The joint committee of the two houses, substituted by the amendment adopted in the earlier stage. The amendment was lost without division.

Lord Cromer then moved an amendment, which the opposition carried without division, making bills imposed taxation subject to section 2 of the veto bill, if in the opinion of a joint committee the main governing purpose thereof was not purely financial in character.

PRINCE OF WALES IS INVESTED WITH INSIGNIA OF HIS OFFICE

Exercises Second Only in Splendor to Coronation of King and Queen.

ATTENDED BY THOUSANDS

Ceremonies Held in Ancient Castle of Carnarvon, in Quaint Welsh Town.

Carnarvon, Wales, July 13.—In old and well preserved Castle of Carnarvon to-day the young Prince of Wales was invested with the insignia of his high office.

The quaint town, in festive attire, made a holiday and drew within its borders thousands of Welshmen from the surrounding country. The weather was matchless, and two hours before the arrival of Their Majesties, with the prince, great crowds had gathered along the route from Griffith's Crossing, where the royal party alighted, to the castle gate. The buildings along the streets were lavishly decorated. Troops, bluejackets and marines kept open the way through which the procession passed. In the vicinity of the castle a thousand London police and firemen held an open place.

The scene within the castle was picturesque, the vast inclosure within the towered and battlemented walls forming an ideal setting for the ceremony. The outer and inner baileys were lined with stands, and several thousand persons to obtain an excellent view.

Enthusiastic Reception.
Their Majesties and the prince received an enthusiastic reception. The American embassy was represented at the investiture by Secretary Phillips. American Consul-General Griffiths and Mrs. Griffiths were present as guests of Chancellor David Lloyd-George, member of Parliament for Carnarvon district.

King George and Queen Mary, with the prince, came on the royal yacht Victoria and Albert, from Ireland to Holyhead. This morning a special train brought them from Holyhead to Griffith's Crossing, a small station, two and one-half miles north of Carnarvon. Royal carriages and an escort of cavalry were awaiting the party, upon the arrival of whom the procession was formed. Carnarvon was entered by the road, and the party proceeded through the main street to the great castle square.

Here, on a platform in the centre of the square, the Mayor and corporation received the royal visitors and presented addresses. From Castle Square to the first entrance into the castle there were two processions, that of the Prince of Wales preceding that of Their Majesties by a few minutes.

The prince entered the castle at the ancient water gate on the sea front. As he passed in the standard was hoisted on Eagle Tower, while the Royal Welsh Choir of 400 voices sang.

Royal Standard Raised.
The King and Queen followed. As they entered the castle the prince's flag was lowered and the royal standard run up.

In the towers, near the entrance, two suites of royal apartments had been prepared for Their Majesties and the prince, and to these they retired and were robed for the ceremonial. When they again appeared, the processions were reversed, the King and Queen appearing about the first week in August as a semi-weekly. Half a hundred of Chatham's leading business and professional men have organized a company for the operation of the newspaper.

New Paper for Chatham.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Chatham, Va., July 13.—Chatham is to have a new paper, the Chatham Enterprise, and it will make its first appearance about the first week in August as a semi-weekly. Half a hundred of Chatham's leading business and professional men have organized a company for the operation of the newspaper.

Unsuccessful Attempt to Capture St. George Castle.
Lisbon, Portugal, July 11, via Badajoz, Spain, July 13.—A mysterious and daring, though unsuccessful, attempt was made to penetrate and capture St. George Castle, now a strongly fortified fortress, on the top of a hill in the centre of the city, last night.

The sentinels of the castle were surprised by a large body of men, who fired volleys. The whole of the castle quickly turned out and charged with fixed bayonets. The invaders disappeared in the darkness. The attack has caused a sensation, and the garrison of the city has been reinforced.

Had Been Doctoring A Year FOR ECZEMA

A Remarkable and Convincing Statement of the Success of Cuticura Soap and Ointment in the Treatment of the Pain, Itching and Burning of Eczema.

"I, the undersigned, cannot give enough praise to the Cuticura Remedies. I had been doctoring for at least a year for eczema on my foot. I had tried doctor after doctor all the way from New York to Boston, but with no attention to it, when five years ago a small spot showed upon my left ankle I was worried and sent for a doctor. He said it was eczema. He drew a small patch from the ankle about the size of a match and applied it to the foot. The small patch grew to the size of an apple, and the eczema spread to the knee. The doctors said it was incurable. I was in despair. The whole foot ran water all the time. My husband and my sons were up night and day wheeling me from one room to another in the hope of giving me some relief. I would sit for hours at a time in front of the fireplace hoping for daylight. The pain was so intense I was almost crazy. In fact, I would lose my reason for hours at a time. The day friend of mine dropped in to see me. No more had she glanced at my foot. She exclaimed, 'Mrs. Finnegan, why in the world don't you try the Cuticura Remedies? Being disgusted with the doctors and their medicines, and not being able to sleep at all, I decided to give the Cuticura Soap and Ointment a trial. After using them three days that night I slept as sound as a silver dollar for eight long hours. I was in the morning with but very little pain. In fact, I thought I was in heaven. After using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, I will be sixty-four years of age my next birthday, hale and hearty at present.' (Signed) Mrs. Julia Finnegan, 234 Hebert St., St. Louis, Mo., Mar. 7, 11. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 12A, Boston, for free sample of each with 32-p. book on the skin."

Service of Consecration.
The service of consecration followed. The processions then reformed and moved to the Queen's gate of the castle, where the King presented the Prince of Wales to the people. The prince addressed a few words in Cymric to the cheering thousands.

This concluded the ceremony with the exception of the procession outside the walls.

The sum of $25,000 had been donated by the British people to defray the cost of the insignia and other items, and the King himself, together with the British government, gave almost twice as much more to insure the pageant's success. Thousands gathered in Carnarvon, and a conservative estimate places the number of guests at the ceremonies at 150,000.

Lavishly Decorated.
As evidence that this money had been put to good use, Carnarvon Castle was decorated with a lavish profusion that brought hordes of admiring visitors to its historic walls. The old courtyard, where many such ceremonies have been performed since Edward II. was born at the castle 600 years ago, constant of the tower, and the gentlemen of the prince's suite, here prepared for the ceremony that completed the official triumph of the reigning house of England.

Ancient Custom.
The ceremony of investiture chosen for the present Prince of Wales is about 300 years old, and smacks of the Stuart rather than the Plantagenet regime. According to this ceremonial, the prince, upon arrival before his royal parents, made low obeisance three times, and after the third time, when he had come near to the King, he knelt down upon a rich pillow, while his letters patent were read. Then the King, reading the words of investment, put the robes upon him, girded on his sword and set the cap and coronet of office upon his head. After this the letters patent were again read and delivered to the King, who in turn handed them to the prince, amid a fanfare of drums and trumpets. After this a religious ceremony was conducted by the Bishop of Bangor and by a representative minister of the non-conformist churches. The King and Queen then proceeded to Queen Eleanor's gateway and there presented the prince to the people. This was the culminating point of the ceremony.
